

Fall • 2017

representations

140

Special Issue: FALLACIES

Edited by Elisa Tamarkin

JOHN DURHAM PETERS “You Mean My Whole Fallacy Is Wrong”: On Technological Determinism • D. VANCE SMITH
Fallacy: Close Reading and the Beginning of Philosophy • ANDREW COLE How to Think a Figure; or,
Hegel’s Circles • JONATHAN KRAMNICK
The Interdisciplinary Fallacy • ALEXANDER NEMEROV
The Destruction of Hood’s Ordnance Train: A Love Story •
MAUREEN N. MCLANE Compositionism: Plants, Poetics, Possibilities; or, Two Cheers for Fallacies, Especially Pathetic Ones! • BRANKA ARSIC Materialist Vitalism or Pathetic Fallacy: The Case of the House of Usher • JONATHAN FLATLEY Reading for Mood • REY CHOW AND MARKOS HADJIOANNOU
The Hitchcockian Nudge; or, An Aesthetics of Deception •
CHARLES ALTIERI The Fallacy of “Fallacy” and Its Implications for Contemporary Literary Theory

University of California Press

representations

Number 140

Fall 2017

